Saturday 9:00am & 5:00pm

FOURTH SUNDAY OF EASTER

First Reading: Acts 2:14a, 36-41

With great authority, Peter proclaims to the people that the Christ who was crucified is indeed the Messiah. Urging them to reform and be baptized in the name of Christ, three thousand responded to his words and were baptized.

Second Reading: 1 Peter 2:20b-25

This is a strong exhortation from Peter to the people to endure suffering for Christ as he did for them. Healed by his wounds, they have "returned to the shepherd."

Gospel: John 10:1-10

Christ uses the beautiful image of the shepherd to describe his care for his sheep. He also says he is the sheepgate and promises that "Whoever enters through me will be safe."

KNIGHTLY NEWS

The Knights of Columbus

IMAGE MAKES A DIFFERENCE

A good public image can help generate community and parish goodwill and attract membership. It helps other Catholics view the Knights of Columbus as an organization that shares their values and concerns. What makes a good public image? The solid service Knights and their families perform daily for the community, children in need, people with disabilities, and people who are homeless or hungry shapes the Order's image.

Look for the "Get Connected" symbol in the bulletin for activities that will help you connect with your faith and the parish.

STEWARDSHIP MOMENT

Fourth Sunday of Easter

In today's first reading Peter tells his listeners that if they want to follow Jesus they must go against the world, to become what Christian stewards would consider "countercultural." For stewards, being countercultural can consist of surprisingly small decisions—small acts of reorientation to remind them daily that in spite of their life situation, their citizenship, financial status, or color of their skin, they belong, through their baptism, to a new world order in Jesus Christ. Stewards understand that their daily choices should witness to his gospel, not to the trends, attitudes or spending practices of their culture. Stewardship requires us to ask of our daily habits: "In the light of the Gospel, is this important?"

Please return the form that was in the Ministries booklet handed out on Easter Sunday. Place it in the Offering Plate or drop it at the Rectory. This will help us to update our records. More are available at the entrance of the Church.
Thank you.

SOCIAL CONCERNS COMMITTEE

"Whatever you do for the least of my brothers and sisters, you do for me."
Matthew 25:40

We invite new members to join the
Social Concerns Committee
at our next meeting on Thursday, May 19, at 7 p.m.

in the lower level of the rectory.

This ministry strives to create awareness and provide opportunities to engage parishioners in the social mission of the Church.

"The laity, because of their vocation to be the salt of the earth and the light of the world, should be well grounded in the Church's social doctrine. Then, through their presence in public life, they should contribute to strengthening the fabric of society."
Pope John Paul II

A Family Perspective

by Bud Ozar

In today's gospel Jesus tells us, HE IS THE WAY and warns anyone who offers "another way" to happiness is "a thief and a bandit." Strong words! Don't listen to the sales pitch of society for happiness. Look to yourself where God is present and "calls you by name and leads you to abundant life."

RESPECT LIFE

Anthropologist Margaret Mead wrote about the epochal significance of the Hippocratic Oath now set aside by many medical schools:

"For the first time in our tradition there was a complete separation between killing and curing. One profession...was to be dedicated to life under all circumstances, regardless of rank, age, or intellect." NRL News, 9/90

SPIRITUAL ADOPTION UPDATE

Thank you for praying for me. I am now 8 months old. I've got long fingernails and I'm busy getting ready for my birthday. I can't wait to see my Mom and Dad. Thanks to you and your prayers, I'll see them soon.

BLESSED POPE JOHN PAUL II

'The Great Mercy Pope'

The date set for John Paul's beatification is no surprise to anyone. His life was inseparable from the message of Divine Mercy and the writing of St. Faustina, the so-called "Apostle of Divine Mercy."

Known as the "Great Mercy Pope," John Paul said in 1981, "Right from the beginning of my ministry in St. Peter's in Rome, I considered this message [of Divine Mercy] my special task."

It was the theme of his second encyclical, "Dives in Misericordia" ("Rich in Mercy"), in 1980.

He defined Divine Mercy as "that love which is benevolent, which is compassionate, which raises man above his weakness to the infinite heights to the holiness of God."

In 1997, he spoke again of Divine Mercy while visiting the tomb of then Blessed Faustina, whose revelations of Christ's mercy have sparked the modern Divine Mercy movement. He noted how "the message of Divine Mercy has always been near and dear to me" and how it had, in a sense, formed the image of his pontificate.

When he was still Archbishop of Krakow, the future Pontiff initiated Faustina's cause of beatification. In 1993, as Pope, he beatified her. Then, in 2000 he canonized her as the first saint of the new millennium and also declared the second Sunday of Easter, Divine Mercy Sunday, an official feast day of the Church.

In August 2002, in Lagiewniki, Poland, where St. Faustina lived and died, he entrusted the entire world "to Divine Mercy, to the unlimited trust in God the Merciful."

The Decree of his Beatification notes, "Since the beginning of his pontificate, in 1978, John Paul II often spoke in his homilies of the mercy of God. This became the theme of his second encyclical, Dives in Misericordia, in 1980. He was aware that modern culture and its language do not have a place for mercy, treating it as something strange; they try to inscribe everything in the categories of justice and law. But this does not suffice, for it is not what the reality of God is about."
